Belkasoft Forensic IM Analyzer new release

Belkasoft announces 4 new editions of its flagship tool

Belkasoft, computer forensics software vendor, announces today the release of 4 new editions of its flagship tool called Belkasoft Forensic IM Analyzer. The tool is aimed to help forensic investigators with instant messengers history extraction and supports more than 20 various messenger histories including ICQ (all versions starting 97a to ICQ 7), Skype, Live Messenger/MSN, Yahoo! Messenger, Miranda, Trillian, MySpace IM etc.

While before today it existed in two editions (Personal and Corporate), now there are four: Home, Standard, Professional and Ultimate. Home edition is targeted for individuals, the rest three will be used by organizational users. Comparing to Standard, Professional edition adds up an ability to mount drive images in popular formats such as Encase or DD. It also support QQ 2009/2010 and Skype chatsync extraction. Ultimate version provides for deleted information retrieval (so-called carving). The information can be found on FAT and NTFS drives, drive images and Live RAM images made with the help of win32dd/win64dd or FTK Imager tools.

"Our goal was to ease complicated work of those who need to conduct a deep investigation of messenger histories, including deleted history and live RAM analysis," says Yuri Gubanov, owner and CEO at Belkasoft. "Now it is possible to get the single tool providing for that instead of purchasing a set of tools. Others may not overspend the money on functionality they do not need by choosing minor edition of the tool."

New editions of Belkasoft Forensic IM Analyzer product are available on Belkasoft site at <http://belkasoft.com>.
